Continuing Education: Dr. Kline exceeds the required amount of continuing education each year.

“The eye is a remarkable organ that’s responsible for one of our most vital senses, and I’ve always been fascinated with it. In fact, my interest in the whole visual process and how it works is what led me to the field of optometry. When I started practicing in 1978, my goal was to provide patients with the latest eyecare advances in a caring, personalized environment. Today, I’m proud to say that I still uphold these standards on a daily basis for every patient I see.”

“You can feel confident in knowing that I stay on top of the latest developments in my field. One of the ways I do this is by completing more than four times the required amount of continuing education each year. I also maintain membership in some of the most respected optometric organizations, including the American Optometric Association and New York State Optometric Association. This allows me to meet with my peers to exchange ideas and learn about the latest treatments and technologies.

“What’s more, my staff and I pride ourselves on being able to deliver innovative, proven vision-care solutions with a human touch. We will take the time to listen to you, answer your questions and address any concerns that you may have. It’s the same level of care that we would want for our own family members.”

Dr. Kline is married and has four children. In his spare time, he enjoys spending time with his family. He is also an avid swimmer and nationally certified swim official. In addition to being actively involved in the YMCA, Dr. Kline participates in annual fund-raisers for the American Heart Association, American Diabetic Association and American Leukemia Association, among others.
